Please reconsider the unwise plan of shipping dangerous nuclear waste across the country. There are so many dangerous accidents that could befall it's shipment: derailments, collisions, natural disasters, and now even terrorism.

Would not storing the wastes near the nuclear plants themselves make much more sense both safety wise and cost wise?

Please make a wise decision not to ship hazardous radioactive waste across the country like this.

Thank you for your intelligent consideration of this decision with its potential dangers.

Sincerely,

Paul and Joanne Petrikovitsch
